Subject: Re: ~~Defun~~ Project : Paint Selections & Project Coordination

Charles,

Thanks again. While Diego is out, I'm getting the project file squared away on my end so the walkthrough stays focused on the work itself. The escrow bank releases the balance of the construction funds at final inspection, so a clean file gets everyone paid faster.

When you get a chance, send over whatever you maintain as the complete financial record for the job: the current ledger or job-cost report, supporting invoices and subcontractor bills, payments and credits received, and however you reconcile the original insurance scope against the change orders and upgrades. Raw exports and native formats are completely fine if you rely on QuickBooks, job-cost software, PDFs, whatever you actually use day to day. No need to clean anything up or build something special for me.

I've reconciled what I have on my side from the estimates, change orders, and correspondence. I just want to tie it back to your records rather than assume how you account for things internally. Along with that, send me the current outstanding balance as reflected in your records, and confirm how the July 23 payments were applied: the $32,000 check and the $6,979.92 wire. My bank's transaction record is on its way as promised. I'll treat the balance you send as the number of record going forward, so take a minute to make sure it's right.

I'll review everything before we meet and bring any questions to the walkthrough. Have Diego send his Thursday or Friday windows when he's back.

Thanks Charles,,

Thanks for the reply, I appreciate you clearly defining the scope of where things are.

The wire :

It was initiated on July 23rd , 2026 @ an amount of $6,979.92 and I've requested the full printed transaction record from the bank so we can trace exactly where it stands and verify the receiving account details. To close the loop from your side, confirm the information that was provided in the attachments with the account and routing number it should have landed in. If there was an issue initiating the transfer (mixing up even a single number placement in the account when it was wired) then I will catch it in the Bank of America record. I should be able to get out of the office today at a reasonable time and will sit down with a BOA private banker to do a little sleuthing. I will make sure this gets to you first and foremost.

Paint scope :

I will update myself further with what the approved insurance scope covers, but to make sure we are keeping apples to apples and oranges to oranges, maybe it would help to make sure we are on the same page. Can you send me the approved scope document itself? Nothing is a deal breaker and can be mitigated efficiently. I've been through Anne's paperwork front to back, and I'd rather we both read from the source than from each other's summaries of it. Once it's in hand, I'll confirm which of my selections fall inside scope, and anything that legitimately sits outside it, I'm glad to look at pricing on. Until then, the selections I sent stand as submitted.

Communication :

Diego as your point man works for me. Weekly updates and day-to-day questions go to him, everything on the owner's side runs through me, and we keep it clean on both ends. Zero disagreement on signatures: Anne signs everything, as she should. I'll make sure anything needing her name gets in front of her same-day, so paperwork never becomes the bottleneck.

Walkthrough :

With Diego back midweek, have him send me two or three windows for Thursday or Friday. Anne and I will make one work. I want the scope document in hand before we walk the house, so we're solving problems on-site instead of debating documents in a hallway.

The house is the priority. Let's finish it strong.

Good morning, Daniel,

Thank you for your email and the information provided.

I would like to clarify a few points regarding the scope of work. Diego will be able to discuss these points with you in more detail when he meets with you about the remaining items to be completed. Please note that Diego is out of the office until the middle of next week, but he can schedule a walkthrough with you and Anne upon his return.

The paint scope, according to the approved insurance scope, is as follows:

- Diego is requesting the new paint color for the kitchen walls and ceilings (one color only).
- Paint colors for the walls and ceilings in the family room, hallway, and laundry room will be matched to the existing colors.
- If there are any additional paint changes or accent walls requested, we can provide pricing for these if Anne is interested.

Regarding weekly communication, I agree that this will help keep the project on track. These communications should be directed to Diego, as he is managing the project and is committed to completing it on time. There is no issue with you being the point of contact for Anne's project; however, all documents will need to be approved and signed by Anne, as the contract is in her name.

Lastly, I wanted to follow up on the wire that was supposed to be sent, as it has not yet been received. Please advise on the status.

Subject: Defun Project : Paint Selections & Project Coordination

Diego, Charles, and Gary,
Hope you guys are doing well.

Anne has asked me to step in and handle the project from this point forward. She'd like to step back from the day-to-day coordination, so if you need decisions, scheduling, answers, or follow-up, come directly to me. I think that'll make life easier for everybody.

First things first, here are the paint selections.

- Walls: Sherwin-Williams Restoration (SW 9578), unless otherwise noted.
- Trim, baseboards, door frames, copings, and similar trim: White Sesame (SW 9586).
- Ground level room walls: Leisure Blue (SW 6515).
- South wall in the ground level room: In The Navy (SW 9178).
- Ground level room ceiling: Grays Harbor (SW 6236).

I'm still confirming the remaining ceiling colors and finishes and will get those over shortly. Once I do, send me the selection sheet Diego mentioned and let me know where painting currently fits into the overall schedule.

I've spent the last few days digging through the project, reading the emails, texts, paperwork, change orders, invoices, and insurance documents so I have a solid understanding of where things stand. I can also see that communication has gotten frustrating for everybody. I understand that. Anne has been dealing with some health issues that have made managing a project this size more difficult than it should have been, and that's a big reason she's asked me to take over.

I'm not interested in dragging anything into the weeds or rehashing old conversations. I just want to get everybody in the same room, walk the job, go through the remaining scope and paperwork together, answer the questions that still exist, and put together a clean plan to finish this project. I think that'll save everybody time and probably a fair amount of frustration.

I appreciate the work you guys have put into the house so far. I'd like to see the project finish strong, and I think we can make the rest of this go a lot smoother by keeping communication simple and direct.

Send me a few times that work for all three of you over the next several days. I'd prefer to meet at the house, but I'm happy to work around your schedules if another location makes more sense.

Thanks,

~ daniel
